

M1U1_CA2

Reflecting on the different dimensions of the health response to the different scenarios of arrival, transit and destination as well as the vulnerable group of the stranded migrants and answer the following set of questions:

1. Forced displacement in the world and into the EU has being stable over the last five years

Select one:

- True
- False

2. Most refugees in the world are located in the developing world

Select one:

- True
- False

3. We are facing problems where we need unprecedented responses

Select one:

- True
- False

4. Please select the correct sentence:

Select one:

- a. The diverse migrant groups are clearly separated by country
- b. We tend to observe a blurred situation of different groups of migrants in one single country

5. Asylum seeking has been a steady phenomenon

Select one:

- True
- False

6. Are the health needs of refugees, asylum seekers and other migrants:

Select one:

- a. both
- b. of chronic nature to be addressed by the regular country health systems
- c. of acute humanitarian nature

7. Does the health response to these vulnerable populations:

Select one:

- a. is an unified one across the board
- b. vary by population segment

8. Are the necessary Member States capacities to organize a proper public health response in place?

Select one:

- True
- False